The diagram shows a large rectangular area divided into sections for different countertop components. On the left, there are two large L-shaped outlines representing island tops. In the center, there are two long horizontal outlines representing counters (vanity, etc.). On the right, there are two vertical rectangular outlines representing backsplashes. Below these are three rows of smaller rectangular outlines for island tops, counters, and backsplashes. At the bottom left, there are two small square outlines representing waterfall panels.
